SUPPLEMENT TO REPORT NO.

1. Since the fall of 1948, military fortifications in the woods of Tatranska Lomnica, between Bratislava and Kosice, are being built by the Soviet Army; they are being constructed out of reinforced concrete. Heavy guns, with a field of fire of 360°, are being installed on circular, concrete bases.
2. Only Soviet soldiers are employed on the building site; civilians cannot enter it. It is a restricted area, is surrounded by barbed wire, and is guarded by two men, one a Soviet soldier and the other a member of the SNB. The soldiers engaged in construction wear mostly work clothes without shoulder straps. The guards wear red shoulder straps which have a dark border, and they are armed with automatic pistols.
3. Building materials come by railroad and are delivered in tanks. Several horse-drawn vehicles with about 50-60 horses are also used. Guns are brought by automobile and are assembled and mounted at the construction site. The large guns, however, are already assembled and are brought by railroad and drawn by tractors.
